

Alexander Creek Newsletter

January 2024

Funnies

My tolerance for idiots is extremely low these days. I used to have some immunity built up, but obviously, there's a new strain out there.

I want to be 18 again and ruin my life in totally new ways. I have new ideas.

Welcome to 2024. I hope you all had a good holiday season. Things have been quiet over the holidays, but are about to get busy again as the Board meets to make plans for the year.

Linda Carter has been tasked with the Shelter House expansion. She has put a team together and they will come up with a plan. Plans will be shared with the rest of the board for comments and perhaps some tweaks to the plan. Residents will have the same opportunity after it's approved by the board.

Larry Clark has been appointed to the ARC committee. I'm pleased to have him on board.

If anyone hasn't looked at the signage at the entrance, please take a closer look. Monica and Yolanda spent some time adding some nice touches to the lettering. Nice job ladies.

Subdivision garage sales will be coming back in 2024.

I have some musicians who are interested in playing during one of our events. They play Jazz and Blues. A free meal and tips is all that is required.

Social Committee

The Alexander Creek social committee is looking forward to many activities in 2024 that offer our community a change to come together with neighbors. We will begin organizing in January for the upcoming year. After that we plan to have monthly gatherings which will include many of the same activities as last year. If you have a favorite event that you would like us to keep on the calendar, know of entertainment we could invite or an idea for a new community activity please contact a member of the social committee. We have a new committee member, Marcia Rangel, who is replacing Vicki Seward. We welcome your thoughts and ideas and thank you all for making our 2023 events a success.